

That Man

Macy Gray

We always rock around
We always rock around

We gonna rock around
We always rock around
I was so happy 'bout the love I found 'til I went to the library and I saw him
Sayin', "Oh yeah
Oh yeah, I want that man"

He stole my heart and he's killing me softly
He stole my heart and he's killing me softly
She said, "Oh, if he's stealin' and killin' then he must be a black man" (A black man)
He's my brand new Ferrari
He's my piece of cake
My personal president of the United States

Hey baby, hey daddy, hey sugar, you sure are a looker in your bling-bling chain and your Gucci shades
He got the custom Range Rover
I think I'm comin' over, saying, "Oh yeah
Oh yeah, I want that man"

I'm gonna say it loud
I'm gonna say it loud
I was so happy 'bout the love I found
See, I went to the museum and I saw him

Oh yeah
Oh yeah, I want that man

He wrote me poetry and bought me a car
He wrote me poetry and bought me a car
She said, "Oh, if he wrote you poetry and bought you a car, he must be a nice man"
He's my brand new Mercedes
He's my piece of pie
He's my very own personal Jesus Christ

Hey baby, hey daddy, hey sugar, you sure are a looker in your bling-bling chain and your Gucci shades
He got the custom Range Rover
I think I'm comin' over, saying, "Oh yeah
Oh yeah, I want that man" (That man)

Hey baby, baby, I've been lookin' all over the world
You be my man, I will be your girl
I think together we could go real far
Especially if we had a jet, private
You can get it, you bet it
Hey baby, baby, I've been lookin' all over the world
You be my man, I will be your girl

Extraordinary (That man)
I wanna marry (That man)
Hey daddy, hey sugar (That man), yeah, you sure are a looker (That man)

When I look at you, all I have to say is, "That man"
