how can you call this land we walk on free two centuries of deception a system put in place dollars bear their face equal rights those who can afford to pay content to believe what they say they say democracy i scream a scam big bucks from big business buy uncle sam no conspiracy it's apathy we the people can't seem to just open our eyes content to believe all their lies hey they gotta go how can we take back what was ours you gotta know what they are doing to you kids die for their country but they can't buy beer they'll outlaw what's natural motive unclear laws are put into place their morals in my face but we got an ace up our sleeve opression plants rebellion's seed now the time has come to say fuck what they've said what they've done yeah we're young and dumb but as asume we are worth more than one