

another starry night
I lay down by the evening fire take a look back at today down to the waters edge i let myself fall back in the waves will wash it away another year is gone and i know it's been so long i'm still around and it's okay
my body's aching
the time it's taking don't believe I've got another chance to say I'm gonna make it today i walk back slowly to the sand and lay my head down thinking about what there is to do the night sky high above the land is keeping me safe the fire in the distance too