

Joan of Arc

Madonna

Each time they take the photograph
I lose a part I can't get back
I wanna hide
This is the part where I detach
Each time they write a hateful word
Dragging my soul into the dirt
I wanna die
Never admit it but it hurts

I don't wanna talk about it right now
Just hold me while I cry my eyes out
I'm not Joan of Arc, not yet
but I'm in the dark, yeah

I can be a superhero right now
Even arms made out of steel can break down
You'll always be my soldier,
I can depend on.
Everything they did to me, said to me
Doesn't mean a thing cause you're here with me now
Even when the world turns its back on me
That could be a war but I'm not going down

One little light can ruin my day
Words are like weapon and betray
When I am afraid, one word of kindness, it can save me

I don't wanna talk about it right now
Just hold me while I cry my eyes out
I'm not Joan of Arc, not yet
but I'm in the dark, yeah

I can be a superhero right now
Even arms made out of steel can break down
You'll always be my soldier,
I can depend on.
Everything they did to me, said to me
Doesn't mean a thing cause you're here with me now
Even when the world turns its back on me
That could be a war but I'm not going down

Being distracted is brave
They could have said it to my face
One day I will care
But for the moment I'm not there
I'll just close my eyes and let you catch me now

I don't wanna talk about it right now
Just hold me while I cry my eyes out
I'm not Joan of Arc, not yet
but I'm in the dark, yeah

I can be a superhero right now
Even arms made out of steel can break down
You'll always be my soldier,
I can depend on.
Everything they did to me, said to me

Doesn't mean a thing cause you're here with me now
Even when the world turns its back on me
That could be a war but I'm not going down

Anything they did to me, said to me
Doesn't mean a thing cause you're here with me now
Even when the world turns its back on me
That could be a war but I'm not Joan of Arc