

Attention Please

Mads Langer

Winter leaves are falling and lonely birds are calling
But it can't replace the feeling
A song about life and it's out of time
It reminds me of the days where childhood still belonged to me

Throw your attention towards me
I wanna show you how beautiful life can be

I've been down for a while
But now it seems as though my faith is getting stronger
I live in a new place in a new town
I get intoxicated by the city lights around me

Throw your attention towards me
I wanna show you how beautiful life can be

I wanna show you how beautiful life can be
Just turn around and see
That everywhere I go there are smiles all over

Throw your attention towards me
I wanna show you how beautiful life can be