

Not Meant To Be Broken

Mads Langer

Seems the path is missing,
It's like we're second-guessing,
We should have known by now.
Same old vows repeating,
All our lies revealing,
Our patience's running out.

We're not meant to be broken
But that is what we seem to be
Lost right out in the open
Shattered, but we still believe

And it feels like we're falling
To pieces, knowing
You and I we're wishing
For changes, knowing
That we're not meant to be broken.

We're far from where we started,
Distant but not parted.
There's only trails of tears.
How I wish that I had seen what was coming,
We should've looked for shelter but we kept on running.
It's suddenly so clear that

We're not meant to be broken
But that is what we seem to be
Lost right out in the open
Shattered, but we still believe

And it feels like we're falling
To pieces, knowing
You and I we're wishing
For changes, knowing
That we're not meant to be broken.

Broken...
Not meant to be broken, broken, broken
Not meant to be broken, no
Not meant to be broken, broken, broken

And it feels like we're falling
To pieces, knowing
You and I we're wishing
For changes, knowing
We're not meant to be broken.