

Changes

Maggie Reilly

Dawn in a distant city
I'm wondering where you are today
Here in my waken dreams
So far away

Lovers walk hand in hand
Under an early morning sky
Reminding me where we've been Sometime gone by

The miles we covered hard to hard
The days we drifted far apart

And we're still travelling through these changes
I'm getting closer to the truth
No matter where I go
Every road leads back to you

Whenever you think of me
Remember when you're the one who's gone
That I'll be the one to say
Don't stray too long

Soon we're coming around again
And do beginning from a different end

Still I'm travelling through these changes
I'm getting closer to the truth
No matter where I go
Every road leads back to you, back to you, back to you

And in some other place in time
Were we star-crossed lovers
Given an other chance to find
You always let me through these changes, oh, changes

Through these changes
I'm getting closer to the truth
No matter where I go
Every road leads back to you, back to you

Through these changes
Every road leads back to you, back to you
No matter, no matter, no matter where I go
Every road leads back to you

Still travelling, travelling through these changes
I'm getting closer to the truth
Back to you, back to you
Oh, no matter where I go
Every road leads back to you

Through these changes
I'm getting closer to the truth
And wondering where you are today
No matter where I go
Every road leads back to you
