Put Yourself In My Blues

Maggie Rose

It don't make much sense
You and me, we got everything
But you can't wrap your head around
Gettin' gone from where you've been
Well, it ain't that hard
To see the hole that I'm standin' in
So stop lookin' at you, and start lookin' at me
You'll see what a wreck I've been

So jump in my world
Come take a look through these tears
And just get a glimpse of the heartache
I feel in here
Do some time in this bittersweet hell
That I'm walkin' through
Put yourself in my blues
Put yourself in my blues

See I get to hate you
And I get to unravel now
You know I start breakin' things
Every time I start breakin' down
Oh, so don't try to kiss me
Cause you know that always works
And baby I swear if we're gonna go there
Well you're gonna taste the hurt

So jump in my world
And come take a look through these tears
And just get a glimpse of the heartache
That I feel in here
Do some time in this bittersweet hell
That I'm walkin' through
Put yourself in my blues
Oh, put yourself in my blues

Don't you miss being here
Don't you miss being us
No one else gonna love you this much

So jump in my world
And come take a look through these tears
And just get a glimpse of the heartache
That I feel in here, yeah yeah
Do some time in this bittersweet hell
That I'm walkin' through
Put yourself in my blues
Put yourself in my blues
Put yourself in my blues
