They Stole the Sun

They Stole The Sun

The light is fading the air is getting cold And yet no clouds are on the sky Time is bending Misfortune will unfold And all the kingdom is asking why.

But at the end of the day The master of forges was learning the truth He has found the means and the only way For heroes to pursue.

Oh no, they stole the sun, we're blinded forever Into another world they've gone Oh no, they stole the sun, we're in this together, With magic on our side, searching for whomever stole the sun

They come like thunder The hammer breaks the gate And the battle rages on Heads are rolling The evil takes the bait Hot iron through the wall Magica
