

After Tomorrow

Magnitude 9

What would we say if our lives we live today, had suddenly made a chance
How would we feel if our fear became real, and everything's gone away

I can't seem to remember nothing at all
Memories lost with time I can't recall
We're running through life trying to reach out dreams
As our whole world around us is falling apart at the seams

When will it end now we're falling, will we know after tomorrow

We may not see the way it will be if the sands have run out of time

I can't seem to remember nothing at all
Memories lost with time I can't recall
We're running through life trying to reach out dreams
As our whole world around us is falling apart at the seams

When will it end now we're falling, will we know after tomorrow

[solo]

Searching to find the way, feels like I've lost control lonely I long for the day I can get back to my home

We'll never know what fate has to hold in the balance of our life

I can't seem to remember nothing at all
Memories lost with time I can't recall
We're running through life trying to reach out dreams
As our whole world around us is falling apart at the seams

When will it end now we're falling, will we know after tomorrow