

you used to say i had what it takes i think i did if you meant to little to late by the looks that im getting i made some big mistakes and i thought you said i was great shoot straight and give it my best try ill make my heart as hard as nails that might be the way to live your life but it almost got me killed darling, im not giving in that happened miles ago

I heard the northsttar saying, kid you're so lost even I can't bring you home so did you think that we was gonna last well honey, you know you dont have to answer that half of that was my kind of joke but i dont remember which half..

I didnt know how blue i'd get i didnt know how i'd get blamed for it

I didnt choose to go down this road no one chooses to be sick saying everything is fine by the look in my eye but you know, darling half of what a man says is a lie its your last chance, to forget me now and its done for good you always said i'd make it out somehow darling, i knew I never would
