Broken Wheel

You cried all night It looks like rain upon your face Come early light It's time to get back in the race Now there's no doubt The world's a cold and lonely place It sucks you in Chews you up and spits you out

But I know where you've been That door's easy to walk in

Like a broken wheel stops turning You ain't going nowhere Now you've got to heal that burning Or you ain't got a prayer Like a broken wheel

You're not alone Someone somewhere feels just like you But you don't know Which way to turn or what to do No need to ask I'll pull you through these troubled times So hold on fast I'll drag you to the finish line

'Cause I know where you've been That door's easy to walk in

Like a broken wheel stops turning You ain't going nowhere Now you've got to heal that burning Or you ain't got a prayer Like a broken wheel

Had enough, now your heart's breaking Bad enough you hesitating Keep your head, you got to stand your ground A fool for love, you get mistaken Can't forget the hurt you've taken This old world has really got you down
