

A Year With You

Maia Hirasawa

We woke up late that day
In mid-April, I think you said
It feels like we've slept inside a cloud
It's soft in here and not too loud
The sky was so blue
This is a year with you

And summer came all too fast
I couldn't breathe, you couldn't talk
The city just pushed us down
We fell asleep to a darker sound
The clouds were grey too
This is a year with...

You left the autumn all behind
Wanted to wake up by sunshine
Call me, 'cause you lost track of time
Though you're not here, no, I'll be fine
Rains falling there to
Still breathing in and out with you

And February came at last
You tried so hard to forget the past
While I was still remembering
I couldn't close my eyes, pretending
I felt the snow too
And this is a year with...

You left the autumn all behind
Wanted to wake up by sunshine
Call me, 'cause you lost track of time
Though you're not here, no, I'll be fine
Rains falling there to
Still breathing in and out with you

Early morning, both awake
I want to say but hesitate
But for a moment I know for sure
I never wanted anything more
And spring came so soon
Now I know I love you
