

Parking Lot

Maia Hirasawa

I'm standing on a parking lot, all alone and quite confused
I can't find my keys to the car, the sun's gone down and I'm to o

I left them all behind, no tears, though stupid doubts
Now I'm trying to see the only one, though I just want to shout
But I'll sing it again, though everyone is sleeping

Aaa

I'm standing on this quiet night, walked all the way back home
Now the silence is making me numb, I just want them to come
And in the dark I'll sing, though everyone is sleeping
I sing

Though we had it all, I left it all behind
The pictures on the wall, says where I should stand Skylark had it all, but we left it all behind, wanted to fly an d not to fall
Now I don't know where I should stand

I don't know why they left it all
But if you ask me they would do it all again