

I'm sick and tired of blending in
And never telling anyone
How You set this sinner free

You found me living without hope
And then You drew me to Yourself
And Your mercy made me clean

And I will tell Your story for the world to hear
I will tell Your story for the world to hear
Of Your great love and how it rescued me

You came into the world You made
And then died upon a tree to bring us back to You
You're like fire in my bones and like fire in my soul
And I can't hold You in anymore

And I will tell Your story for the world to hear
I will tell Your story for the world to hear
Of Your great love and how it rescued me

And I will tell Your story for the world to hear
I will tell Your story for the world to hear
Of Your great love and how it rescued me

What if nobody told me?
Where would I be without You now?
What if nobody told me?
Where would I be?

I will tell Your story
I will tell Your story

And I will tell Your story for the world to hear
I will tell Your story for the world to hear
Of Your great love and how it rescued me, oh

And I will tell Your story for the world to hear
I will tell Your story for the world to hear
Of Your great love and how it rescued me
