

Profitable Extinction

Malignancy

Backwards thinking, prevalent throughout the ages
Harvesting the waters in the name of slaughter
Gutting the sea of all its creatures
We declare our dominance over the inhabitants

Evolved to survived, lurks evil that instills primal fear in man
An eating machine, with eyes so black, pain is unseen
Human fatalities pollute the water with their blood
We convict this predator for acting on instinct

Insatiable lust for death, the thirst could never be satisfied
The hands of mankind are rotting with perversion
Justified killing, destroying all that we fear

Butchered in the name of industry
Selfishly used to promote longevity
Dissection eternally, free from malignancy
Exploiting insides, to further humanity
The ultimate hypocrisy