

Falling in Love

Mallory Knox

Hate how I feel about love when I think that I've lost it
Like when I'm lying in bed contemplating if I've ever felt it
It's all gone wrong
And it's worse than the way that it felt when it started
Do I save it this time?
Or leave it behind?

I lit a match and let the light in
But all the demons tried to sneak in
And I was powerless to stop them
I kept on falling in love, love, love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love

Cleansing my mind, yeah at times, can be frankly exhausting
As I go over the lies that I've told in my head and it's haunting
This broken soul
A body of youth when my heart should be beating
But it's breaking in two
But what can I do?

I lit a match and let the light in
But all the demons tried to sneak in
And I was powerless to stop them
I kept on falling in love, love, love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love, love, love

Drinking away all the guilt that I'm feeling from last night
And while you're hoping that mark on your neck happened during a fist fight
It's all gone wrong
I'm so sick of the man that I am, I'm a drunk, I'm a liar, a waste of desire
It's true
But what the fuck can I do?

I lit a match and let the light in (match and let the light in)
But all the demons tried to sneak in (demons tried to sneak in)
And I was powerless to stop them
I kept on falling in love, love, love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love, love, love

'Cause these cigarettes ain't hurting
Such a tragic little truth
If I give up my addiction
Then I'll be giving up on you
(I kept on falling in love)
'Cause these cigarettes ain't hurting
(I kept on falling in love)

They're really all I've ever had
(I kept on falling in love)
If I give up my addiction
(I kept on falling in love)
Then I'll be giving up on you

I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love
I kept on falling in love
