

Moving Into Fear

Malrun

Losing incentive, ever faster the spiral leading down to disaster a free fall heading for rocks way beneath you beneath you the self-doubt will tie you down beneath you tie you down

Chorus:

To find your way home
remember you're the one to move your comfort zone
and make all fear be gone never more passionate
than when your hope is strong

Question the motives ever after a stick to beat you down ever faster when hiding substitutes making decisions decisions the self-doubt will tie you down decisions tie you down

Chorus:

To find your way home
remember you're the one
to move your comfort zone
and make all fear be gone
never more passionate
than when your hope is strong

into the fear you have to move into where it hurts facing demons that you let in for all those years don't let them be your thornes try to grab them by their horns and kick them where it hurts

Chorus:

To find your way home
remember you're the one
to move your comfort zone
and make all fear be gone
never more passionate
than when your hope is strong