

For Jennie

Man Overboard

A voice erupts from an open door,
"I think you're broken forever more."
I see it clear, I'm a different man
We feel the sickness and I think that I'm a goner

Fire flies in an open sky
Where does love go when it dies?
You learn to live with no innocence
We feel this darkness and I think that I'm a goner
I'm holding up the world I thought that I'd be stronger

If you don't feel the pain by now that you swept away, hope for the best and burn it like a memory that I've lost
The time will pass
If you don't see the light right now then it's sure to fade
This season puts me away like a criminal
That I am, that I've become

Fires fly in an open sky
Where do I since you have died?
I made mistakes and I'm sure to pay I'm holding up the world, I thought that I'd be stronger and I'm not sure that we can do this any longer

If you don't feel the pain by now that you swept away,
hope for the best and burn it like a memory that I've lost
The time will pass
If you don't see the light right now then it's sure to fade
This season puts me away like a criminal that I am, that I've become

Now I can't get you out of my head

If you don't feel the pain by now that you swept away, hope for the best and burn it like a memory that I've lost
The time will pass
If you don't see the light right now then it's sure to fade
This season puts me away like a criminal
That I am, that I've become

Now I can't get you out of my head