Swan Dive

Man Overboard

When she sees me it'll all be over
And everything will be different She'll tell herself that she ought
To not think what she thought
But she won't listen

When she sees me, she'll hate me
Then she'll love me again
She'll have a smile on her face
Though she's sick of the chase
So she's giving in

And they'll hold hands like their jumping off a bridge
at all times
And she can't figure out why it's not like this at all
time

Oh my, I know that I'm late
And I'm sorry that you waited all your life
And tonight, we could just forget it
And pretend we never said it and move on with out lives

I knew from the sweet sound of your car on my street
This could be paradise

When I see her I will fall apart for sure
And forget what I've been through Losing control, swallowed whole by what I've turned into
When I see her things are gonna escalate past no return (I forget, I forget what I've been through)
And we'll both ask ourselves "When will I learn?"

And they'll hold hands like their jumping off a bridge
at all times

Oh my, I know that I'm late
And I'm sorry that you waited all your life
And tonight, we could just forget it
And pretend we never said it and move on with out lives

I knew from the sweet sound of your car on my street
This could be paradise
This could be...

Maybe I've learned now
And I don't have to prove it
Maybe I've learned now
And I don't have to prove it

Oh my, I know that I'm late
And I'm sorry that you waited all your life
And tonight, we could just forget it
And pretend we never said it and move on with out lives

I knew from the sweet sound of your car on my street
This could be paradise
I knew from the sweet sound of your car on my street
This could be paradise
I knew from the sweet sound of your car on my street
This could be paradise, paradise

Maybe I've learned now
And I don't have to prove it
Maybe I've learned now
And I don't have to prove it
