

Colours

MAN WITH A MISSION

Dark Red, the colour of your blood drawing the wrist
Cobalt Blue, the colour of the sky holding it all
Pale Purple, umbrella, you keep from me trembling
True Orange, everything coloured by the setting sun
Chrome Yellow, you said to me it calls us happiness
Moss green, the hills of our town which kept us there
Scarlet, the colour of the children's cheek you loved
Snow White, it covered every sorrows among us

Colourful world we had been everywhere we're standing
Coloruful world we had lost everything
But you were standing, you were breathing just there
Under that each colours

Every light on the street had meaning of each story
Everyone believed in life day by day
But we would start it, we must start again ourselves
Put on the new colours again

Light Blond, you showed me your calm hair proudly
Bright Gold, the picture frame you always smile at me.
Silver, the carved spoon we bought to start our life
Dull Grey, I dyed all in all after you have gone
Transparent, the heart of the baby born today
Flesh Colour, seeing my hand grasped tightly
All Black, the colour of beginning of new days
Deep Brown, walking this land we have to go forward

Colourful world we had been everywhere we're standing
Colourful world we had lost everything
But you were standing, you were breathing just there
Under that each colours

Every light on the street had meaning of each story
Everyone believed in life day by day
But we would start it, we must start again ourselves

Go on the road
Good Bye~
