Sweet Jesus I swear that I love you, no matter what the chariot says. I'm biased and by this I'll judge you on weakness wrapped up in my own innocence And I think that's fine.

My God you look so much different. From mirrors you looked like fool. And your skin taste much better with aging not sweet like it wa s back in our Sunday school.

Just wait, don't go. We're gonna see if this bad boy can fly Just wait, don't go. We're gonna see if this bad boy can fly We're gonna see if this bad boy can fly We're gonna see if this bad boy can fly Cause I heard that it can after all.

Now that you're home won't you rescue me? I've been trying so hard to be good again Now that you're home won't you rescue me? I've been trying so hard to be good Now that you're home won't you rescue me? I've been trying so hard to be good again Now that you're home won't you rescue me? I've been trying pretty hard to be good

Well now that you're home I can see again, I can see again Now that you're home I can see again, God I can see
