

Searching For Owls

Mando Diao

When the sun is fading You can see me searching for owls If you rise I'm craving You can hear me Whisper in the night I adore you but I seem to bore you And I'll never love you There's just too much I owe you I need a black black heart in my red room N ever loose the day I saw you And I got little things I told you When you're out I whisper loud: I love you And it was written in the stars No, brother I don't feel anything

I was born in red rooms I haven't dreamt of living a lie That's a fact I walk through Oh, the owls can hear you at night I dri p my money in water I quit my ice with pure alcohol But that's the last time I saw you Ever since I've been searching for owls

I told you But I seem to bore you And I'll never love you There 's just too much I owe you I need a black black heart in my red room Never loose the day I saw you And I got little things I t old you When you're out I whisper loud: I love you And it was w ritten in the stars No brother, I don't feel anything

Did You betray the people behind you ? Yes I betray the people I love Did you behave like God was behind you ? Now that's a si n then I'm guilty
