

Nothing Everything

Mandy Moore

Tired of waiting
Tired of hiding
Went a little late last night
But do you know how it feels
Under the wheels turning in the back of my mind

We have both been wrong before
Even though my heart is torn
I only want the best for you

Tell me a story
Saturday morning has brought a break in the clouds
Before the thunder and rain
Start up again
I want to let it all out

We have both been wrong before
And even though my heart is torn
I only want the best for you

You break the walls around me and take away my pain
If you can do this for me
Oh baby, you can do it for yourself

Out of rotation
Part of the process of building
Something new
In the darkest of nights, out on thin ice
I'll always be there for you

So wrap me in your arms
And keep me in your heart
I only want the best for you