

L-O-V-E

Manic Drive

Even when I walk out on the streets at night
Where the city hides its stars from the blinding lights
Your presence still overtakes me
Makes me want to be where You are
The lining of the moon
Shines a dampening (dampering[?]) blue
Is still enough where I can always see You
How You crafted my life into a work of art
Piece my world together when it's always falling apart

You're my best friend
My sole element
Made me conscious
Now I got to live my life like I'm in

True love
Ya it's You and me that define
That define L.O.V.E.
In or out
It's still You and me that defines
That defines L.O.V.E.

And when I trip over my same shoelace
And fall again in my selfish shame
How could You love this simple man?
Is a question I can't simply understand
Your promises of never leaving
As you stretch out your arms to embrace me
In Your grip I close my eyes and I'm feeling
All of heaven and its hosts around me

You're my best friend
My sole element
Made me conscious
Now I got to live my life like I'm in
