

Standing At The Edge

Mankind Is Obsolete

Frozen,
Two paths in time
Waiting
For the instant to decide

Feel the whole world spinning
Choices everywhere
One life waiting for me
Another over there
Wish I knew the answers
Thought it'd be so clear
What I thought I'd wanted
Suddenly right here

Standing at the edge
How much can I take before I drop into the empty space?
The hours are closing in

Too late to pull back
Too far in between
All I see is distance
The unknown under me
I'm so far
I can't take it anymore
I'm not ready,
I'm not ready,
Keeps pushing me to where I am

Standing at the edge
How much can I take before I drop into the empty space?
The hours are closing in
Standing at the edge
Nothing left but letting go and dropping into empty space
Give up everything I know

Standing at the edge
How much can I take before I drop into the empty space?
The hours are closing in
Standing at the edge
Nothing left but letting go and dropping into empty space
Give up everything I know