

Enter The Carnival

Manticora

Dear Friend,

I have finally found my call.

I shall tour in these landscapes with a circus of old times.

A carnival that belongs to the ancient travelling people of the old continent.

I would like to write and bid you welcome to the show □ it is nothing like you know... but it will surely be something to remember.

I have waited for so long to get to move along and now it is funny how I can feel so small.

I am not going to waste more of your time with my bleak writings and silly rhyme.

I will write you about this fantastic show and maybe in a while you know, my dear friend... I bid you welcome to the show.