

Never Lost, Never Won

Marble Sounds

My smile is just a little right
I can take it with a grin of salt
Instead of getting sleep I try
To make up for my lost and precious time
I could play a role, but I've lost the goal to keep control
Never mind the deal,
It was wild as ghost, but not agreed

It's a status quo
Of driving every game we play
I guess the sun is up
We never lost, we never won
Not a chance will ever change
Or that will find someone to blame
Nor right nor wrong
We never lost, we never won

I used to be alright
But now I can feel the pressure rise
There is another new ordeal
It's me again against my sort of steel
Thank you for the signs,
They could have served me well but I was blind
Thank you for your time
It was good to have you by my side

It's a status quo
Of driving every game we play
I guess the sun is up
We never lost, we never won
Not a chance will ever change
Or that will find someone to blame
Nor right nor wrong
We never lost, we never won

I was ... running right
I just take away my pain and songs
Thank you for the signs,
They could have served me well but I was blind
Thank you for your time
It was good to have you by my side
Thank you for your time
It was good to have you by my side
