

No One Ever Gave Us The Right

Marble Sounds

Detecting a pattern in all of my manners
I'm acting the part
So put me on hold 'till my motions are frozen in time
Neglecting the danger still leads to frustration
I'm building the bridges they burn
Let's cut all the waste
It's taking up space in no time

Yeah you're right
No one ever gave me the right
You were right
No one ever gave me the right

You'd start conversations 'bout something engaging
But stopped making sense
And carrying the weight of the world is a little absurd
With every story I'm feeling more sorry
How could you have lived but not learnt?
Now cut all the waste
It's taking up space in no time

Yeah you're right
No one ever gave us the right
You were right
No one ever gave us the right
To wake up and to make up our minds
But they gave us a reason to fight

Yeah you're right
No one ever gave us the right
To wake up and to make up our minds
But they gave us a reason to fight