

Two And Still Counting

Marble Sounds

I am hardly tired
I am merely closing eyes
Careful with my concentration
If I blink it dies

You make yourself naive
By relying on your enemies
If you take them all for granted
They will never leave

You define all your promises
No questions will arise
You define how you've always been
Effective and precise

You define all your promises
No questions will arise
You define how you've always been
Determined down the line

We can only wait
When the countdown's started late
Neither patience nor frustration
Can break a boring day

You're the passer-by
Followed by my eager eyes
Strictly speaking no one's needed
But please just stick around

You define all your promises
No questions will arise
You define how you've always been
Effective and precise

You define all your promises
No questions will arise
You define how you've always been
Determined down the line

Don't fine-tune your style
You'll always be my number one
You decide what to hold on to
And where we both belong

You define all your promises
No questions will arise
You define how you've always been
Effective and precise

You define all your promises
No questions will arise
You define how you've always been
Determined down the line

You define all your promises
You define all your promises

You define all your promises
You define all your promises
