This Flame

Margaret Becker

The greatest love I have ever found Was like a treasure Buried in a field of stones Hidden there In the hardened ground Was a gift more precious than gold So, I gave All I owned Just to make it mine No price is too great No mountain, too high No distance, too far No ocean is too wide All my world is in You I will never leave Your side And this flame will never die The finest love I have ever known Was like a pearl That many dream they'll find Oh, what joy When I held that love And I know that it could be mine So, I gave All I owned Just to make it mine No price is too great No mountain, too high No distance, too far No ocean is too wide All my world is in You I will never leave Your side This flame will never die I believe That a love like this Will never come to an end All I have And all my life I'd give it all again No price is too great No mountain, too high No distance, too far No ocean is too wide

All my world is in You I will never leave Your side And this flame will never die

All my world is in You I will never leave Your side And this flame will never die
