

Try Again

Maria Arredondo

The story of a girl
Who's been around the world
And seen it all
Waiting for a break
A way to stop the ache
And keep her hope
Everybody knows that lonely place
It makes you wish you could be
Somewhere else

Every time you stumble to the ground
Lose your way and fall behind
Just take a deep breath and try again
Every time you let it get you down
The world is laughin' at you frown
(Oh Yeah) You just gotta try again

Somebody stole a part
From the broken heart
She hides from us
She is out of faith
It's a little late
For promises

Everybody knows that lonely place
It makes you wish you could be
Somewhere else

Every time you stumble to the ground
Lose your way and fall behind
Just take a deep breath and try again
Every time you let it get you down
The world is laughin' at you frown
(Oh Yeah) You just gotta try again

Runaway from the rainy clouds
Runaway from the pain and doubt
No escape from the rain inside
So turn around and try again

Every time you stumble to the ground
Lose your way and fall behind
Just take a deep breath and try again
Every time you let it get you down
The world is laughin' at you frown
(Oh Yeah) You just gotta try again
