

Tunnel Vision

Maria Taylor

Strong will
I know it well
Tunnel vision
Can take you through hell

We got a little off track
We got back
In the belly of the flame
Lie the pieces I lack

And you were running from the outside
Running toward the finish line
I was betting on the other side

And you were giving it all you've got
Giving up your whole life
I was betting on the other side
Betting on the other side

Friend, I know you good
But tell your secrets, no I never would
There was a little lost pact
Still intact
It's just a glimmer in your sight
As we're fading to black

And you were running from the outside
Running toward the finish line
I was betting on the other side

And you were giving it all you've got
Giving up your whole life
I was betting on the other side
Betting on the other side

Dance, arms open wide
With the moon's spotlight in your eye
And we're moving, around and around and around...

And you were running from the outside
Running toward the finish line
I was betting on the other side

And you were giving it all you've got
Giving up your whole life
I was betting on the other side
Betting on the other side
