

Faded

Mariah Carey

It was overcast that day
And I was feeling some kind of way
I pulled the covers up over my head
Tried reaching for you but that was then
I can't forget
My heart's hungover but ain't nothing different
I close my eyes nothing but faded pictures of you, Of you

Faded, baby, you're faded
Baby, you're faded, faded

You come and you go, you're just an echo

Whisper in my ear, but in the morning you're not here
So intangible, just like an echo
Still trying to pretend it's possible
To bring us back to life
Boy we continue to subside
Hanging over life on this rollescoaster ride
I know your name baby sub consciously
Always somewhere, but you're not there for me
Boy you, boy you, faded, baby, you're faded
Baby you're faded, faded
Boy you just come and you go
You come and you go
You're just an echo
Whisper in my ear, but in the morning you're not here
So intangible, just like an echo
Faded,
Always somewhere, but you're not there for me
Not there for me, not there for me
Always somewhere, but you're not there for me
Not there for me, not there for me
