She Moved Through The Fair

Marianne Faithfull

My young love said to me, "My brothers won't mind And my father won't slight you for your lack of kind" Then she turned her head to me and this she did say "It will not be long, love, till our wedding day"

She turned away from me and she moved through the fair And I watched her so swiftly move here and move there Then she turned away homeward with one star awake Like a swan in the evening moves over the lake

Last night, I did dream that my dead love come in So softly she entered that her feet made no din And she turned her head to me and this she did say "It will not be long, love, till our wedding day
