It's Not Your Fault

Marillion

You're only human
So am I
It's such a shame we have these secrets and lies
That get discovered from time to time

Whatever rises eventually falls
The world turns and it turns on us all
You can't live life without making mistakes
You can't live trying to keep the outside world away

It's time to stop
Beating yourself up

It's not your fault
It's not your fault
It's not your fault

I broke a mirror
Maybe two
Shattered reflections
That's all I have of you
Crackin' like eggshell beneath my fear
I couldn't breathe, I couldn't keep the outside world away
Oh dear
When you lie down to sleep
Repeat after me

It's not your fault
It's not your fault
It's not your fault
We're both so tired

It's not your fault
It's just the way we're wired