Surfing The Sun

Marion Raven

Longing to finally reach the shore I know it's coming, count to four I've never felt like this before I let the thunder brake me I feel the swell of this dark sea

This dark sea The tide will take me Will you save me

Surfing the sun, all night long Here, where the day will not decay Surfing the sun, this is the one Take the wave and ride away

Moments like these define me The salt of my skin reminds me The touch of your lips And I know that you and I will always be

Always be The time will take me Will you save me?

Surfing the sun, all night long Take these rays and hide away Surfing the sun, this is the one Take the wave and ride away

Won't you meet me here? On the north side of the sky Won't you meet me where? All our hidden hopes will lie

Won't you meet me here? And we'll climb this mountain high Won't you meet me where? We once saw the raven fly

Surfing the sun, all night long Here, where the day will not decay Surfing the sun, this is the one Take the wave and ride away

Surfing the sun, all night long Here, where the day will not decay Surfing the sun, this is the one Take the wave and ride away
