

Oh, someone has just excited me
And made me know where I want to be
Where are you now?

But this sparkle couldn't stand the chill
In the darkest room of our world
Where am I now?

And everywhere we go
We always run
From what I don't know

And we think we have the answer but we've not
And now we've been on our own for ages
So what have we done?

She's broke many people with her ways
Your pale eyes water as her body decays
She's on her way down, down

Forget about her all in a bath
But these words are scratched on her chest
'Where are you now?'

And everywhere we go
Whether we run, walk or crawl
You turn to me and I still don't know

And we think we have the answer
But we've not, here she comes
And now we've been all on our own for ages
So where do we go?

Now she's convinced she's found the exit
But it's to what?
She says, "The things which you don't know
Things which you don't know"

Now she knows, I know that she knows
But she can't see that I that I do, yeah

And she thinks she have the answer
Here she comes
But she's been on her own for ages
And what has she done?

And she's convinced she's found the exit
But it's to what?
She says, "The things which you don't know
Things which you don't know"

Oh, the things you don't know
When I'm feeling low
