

Nightlife

Marit Bergman

It was the strangest night Fever in the air, the Moon unnaturally bright Kids were crazy
There were madness in their eyes
all these smiling faces and they lifted you up high

And I don't know how It happened but then we shared a cab
And all the citylights
Were blurred just like my mind
And I asked you "is it alright
If I put my hand right here" You said "You can do just anything You like with me,
It's fine since we're Already getting out of line"
Said "yeah, you can Since this is already getting out of hand!
It's getting out of hand

Back at your room
Our kisses deep and Warm
We forget that there's another world out there I explain my situation Someone will wait for me back home
and I guess it's wrong,
I guess it's mean
But frankly, I don't care

Oh oh
And then I gave you a piece of my soul
Said "oh yeah", and
"oh no
I had forgotten what it's like to lose control"
To lose all control

The morning after A cool September Breeze
My mouth is dry I'm Thinking "I'm too old for this"
It's the usual procedure
"Hope I see you again sometime"
but we're not young and we're not dumb

so we know it's a lie

but today I wish we'd never said goodbye
'cause I'm cold and I'm scared and I can't stop thinking about what we almost had what we almost had
