

Have You Ever

Marit Larsen

Have you ever seen her face
The way it lights up
When he walks into the room
He is everything I want
And all that she's got
But there's a way around it
All I'd have to do is break her heart

But no, I don't
No, I won't
There's just no way
She's the one
And it's done
I bet she

Makes his coffee in the morning
They share umbrellas in the rain
He kisses her without a warning
I bet he'll marry her someday
Have you ever met a man you could love forever
Only to find that he's with somebody better

Have you ever met that one
Who shuts your heart down
And he didn't even try
Then you picture every day
For the rest of your life
From the very moment
You notice the sparkle in his eye

But no, we don't
No, we won't
Cause there's no we
She's the one
And it's done
I bet she

Makes his coffee in the morning
They share umbrellas in the rain
He kisses her without a warning
I bet he'll marry her someday
Have you ever met a man you could love forever
Only to find that he's with somebody better

All I'd have to do is break her heart
All I'd have to do is break her heart, heart

No, we don't
No, we won't

If only
He'd pull me out on to the sidewalk
And they were never meant to be
We'd get out of here together and
He would fall in love with me
But she

Makes his coffee in the morning
They share umbrellas in the rain
He kisses her without a warning
I bet he'll marry her someday
Have you ever met a man you could love forever
Only to find that he's with somebody better
Have you ever met a man you could love forever
Only to find that he's with somebody better
