

Running Out Of Ways To Say I Love You

Mark Chesnutt

Running Out Of Ways To Say I Love You
I'm runnin outta ways to say I love you
I bet I've cried a million tears to show you
It hurts to think I've done all I can do
But I'm runnin outta ways to say I love you
One heart gets hurt the other takes the blame
Lately I can't help but wonder if loves worth the pain
I tried my best to make it up to you
But your heart seems cold no matter what I do
I'm runnin outta ways to say I love you
I bet I've cried a million tears to show you
It hurts to think I've done all I can do
But I am runnin outta ways to say I love you

I've placed a dozen roses at your door
Hopin I might place my love back in your heart once more
They symbolize just what you mean to me
Leavin roses can't replace what use to be
I'm runnin outta ways to say I love you
I bet I cried a million tears to show you
It hurts to think I've done all I can do
But I am runnin outta ways to say I love you
Yes I'm runnin outta ways to say I love you
