

One Too Many Midnights

Mark Erelli

(Mark Erelli)

Too many nights thinking 'bout you

Too many lights in my rearview

Too many miles by the light of the moon

Guess we all pay the price for the life we choose

CHORUS

It's one too many midnights

One too many midnights

One too many midnights all alone

Too many places I can't say where I been

Too many faces I can't find a friend

Too many steps to retrace to start all over again

Now I'm stuck in this game I know I can't win

(CHORUS)

So many dreams I just left behind

Fell apart at the seams no matter how hard I tried

And it's all I can do not to lose my mind

Try to keep it between the broken white lines
