

Loving Every Minute

Mark Wills

I was never really breathing
My heart was never really beating
Till you held me in your arms
Every love that didn't last
And every second of my past
Simply disappeared into the dark

And with that first kiss
I felt my life beginning
And the clock just froze
And the world stopped spinning
And the magic of that moment
Is never ending
You made time stand still
And I'm loving every minute

It's a need that never changes
And a passion that is ageless
It consumes me like it did when it was new
You have let me to a place
Where everyday's the same
And I'm always falling more in love with you

And with that first kiss
I felt my life beginning
And the clock just froze
And the world stopped spinning
And the magic of that moment is never ending
You made time stand still
And I'm loving every minute

And with that first kiss
I felt my life beginning
And the clock just froze
And the world stopped spinning
And the magic of that moment is never ending
You made time stand still
And I'm loving every minute