

Perfect Conversation

Mark Wills

In the perfect conversation we're standing at the station And you're begging me, "please don't go" you say, "the only thing that matters in this world is that we need each other so"

In the perfect conversation without any hesitation I tell you, I was wrong I say, "girl, you know sometimes my faith is weak and my pride is much too strong"

In this perfect conversation here in my imagination somehow I know just when to say what's right and I know just what I'm losing before this train I'm on starts moving and i'm running through the door to hold you tight the perfect conversation always ends before we say goodbye

All that I can hear now, so loud and so clear now all the words I could not seem to find everything I didn't say keeps coming back one mile at a time

In this perfect conversation here in my imagination
somehow I know just when to say what's right and I know i'll never leave you 'cause I know how much I need you and tell you that I love you just in time
the perfect conversation always ends
before we say goodbye

before we say goodbye
