

Bet you didn't know you were sacred to me
Like a cathedral rising high into the blue
Bet you didn't know all the courage I have
Came from you, it was you

Bet you didn't know you were my tower of strength
Through the hurricane
Like a child I found peace in your arms time and again
Time and again

You were my life through the storm
You were the shelter that kept me warm
You were my heart, my soul, my kingdom come
The breath I breathe, the sky, the sun, the moon and stars
All wrapped into one
In other words you're my universe

Bet you didn't know you inspired my dreams
You help me believe in myself, yes, you did
Bet you didn't know you're the only one who stood by me
When there was no one else, when there was no one else

You were my life through the storm
You were the shelter that kept me warm
You were my heart, my soul, my kingdom come
The breath I breathe, the sky, the sun, the moon and stars
All wrapped into one
In other words you're my universe

You were my life through the storm
You were my shelter that kept me warm
You were my heart, my soul, my kingdom come
The breath I breathe, the sky, the sun, the moon and stars
All wrapped into one
In other words you're my universe
