A Curse And A Coyote

Marmaduke Duke

If I could tape your eyes shut you'd surrender to my curse Unfolding shrouds of wisdom face down in your dirt Are you watching me? Make this grave a better place For you for me for love, slowly it is killing me, For you for me for hate, quietly it's killing me For your trouble with no doubt blind side covered always I'm so afraid to try and understand this weakness taking me Inside I start breaking but here I am