

Room to Fall

Marshmello

At the edge of the Earth
Before you jump
Before you curse
The world you come from

When the sky is dark
When it's empty of stars
When an edge of an blade
Could end who you are, hang on

If you can look down
Then you've got more room to fall
If you can look down
Then you haven't hit the bottom at all
If you can look down
Then you've got more room to fall
If you can look down
Then you haven't hit the bottom at all

Then you've got more room to fall
Then you've got more room to fall
Then you've got more room to fall

Reaching the end
The end of your rope
Eyes full of tears
Drowning in hope
When your thoughts go dark
And you don't wanna know
What the future holds
You just wanna let go

If you can look down
Then you've got more room to fall
If you can look down
Then you haven't hit the bottom at all
If you can look down
Then you've got more room to fall
If you can look down
Then you haven't hit the bottom at all

Then you've got more room to fall

Then you've got more room to fall

If you can look down
Then you've got more room to fall
If you can look down
Then you haven't hit the bottom at all
If you can look down
Then you've got more room to fall
If you can look down
Then you haven't hit the bottom at all
