

Look What You've Done

Marty Robbins

Her eyes are blue the words are true
She gives me more love than I ever knew
But there is somethin' like a chain that's holdin' me
Why can't I break it and just be free

Her love is soft her heart is mine
She's sure that she will want me for all time
But there is somethin' like a cloud that hides the sun
And it's just your memory
Look what you've done

And it's not fair to her, she never knew you
And it's just as well 'cause then she'd cry
And she's so good to me with all her lovin'
I don't deserve her kiss but I can try

Her smile is pure she does no wrong
But I know deep within myself I'm not that strong
And she says, I will always be the only one
Ah, but she's been cheated
Look what you've done

And your memory is a cloud that hides the sun
And I'm in a prison
Look what you've done
And within' my mind I know the time will come
I'll have to hurt her
Look what you've done
