

Times Have Changed

Marty Robbins

Times have changed
You're not the same as you used to be
Times have changed
And now you say that you're through with me
Where once I knew a love with you so close in every way
But now we're as far apart as night and day

Times have changed
The world has gained a broken heart
You quenched the flame
And then you left me in the dark
Shame, oh shame, times have changed
The world has fallen through
But time can't change my love for you