What God Has Done

Marty Robbins

What God has done is not a hidden secret Our eyes behold his glory day by day Our hearts may feel his presence close beside us Content we'll be if we will choose his way

Great are the words of God the great creator Great is the work done by his mighty hand In heaven or earth there's no one who is greater And in his love forever we shall stand

His is a tune to hear the pain just disperse His heart is overflowing now with love His eyes are heavens searching longing for us And with his hands he beckons from above

Great are the words of God the great creator...
